PART B: BENGAL REGULATIONS — YEAR BY YEAR (1793-1834)

Note on Bengal Regulations:

- The systematic codification began under Governor-General Lord Cornwallis in 1793.
- Regulations were numbered sequentially within each year (e.g., Regulation I of 1793).
- The total corpus runs to approximately 700+ regulations through 1834.
- After 1834, the legislative power shifted to the Governor-General in Council for all of British India under the Charter Act of 1833.

NOTES AND CAVEATS

1. COMPLETENESS: This database represents the most comprehensive listing possible from available historical knowledge. The exact total count of Bengal Regulations varies between sources (Colebrooke's Digest, Harington's Analysis, the official Bengal Code). Some regulations were purely administrative circulars elevated to regulation status.
2. NUMBERING: The Bengal Regulations used Roman numeral numbering within each year (e.g., Regulation VII of 1822). Some years had supplementary regulations that were numbered non-sequentially or added mid-year.
3. APPLICABILITY TO BANGLADESH: After the Partition of Bengal (1947) and the independence of Bangladesh (1971), the legal position is:
 - The East Bengal State Acquisition and Tenancy Act 1950 effectively replaced the entire Permanent Settlement framework.
 - Criminal law was replaced by the Penal Code 1860 and CrPC 1898.
 - Civil procedure was replaced by the Code of Civil Procedure 1908.
 - Police law was replaced by the Police Act 1861.
 - Most Bengal Regulations were formally or effectively repealed through the Repealing and Amending Acts of the 19th and 20th centuries.

4. KEY REPEALING LEGISLATION:

- Bengal Regulations Repeal Act (various years in the 1870s-1880s)
 - Repealing and Amending Act, 1891
 - Repealing and Amending Act, 1914
 - Repealing and Amending Act, 1927
 - Laws Continuance Enforcement Order, 1971 (Bangladesh)
 - Bangladesh Laws Revision and Declaration Act, 1973
5. SOURCES: This compilation draws on:
 - Colebrooke's Supplement to the Digest of Bengal Regulations
 - Harington's Analysis of the Bengal Regulations
 - The official Bengal Code (published by the Government of Bengal)
 - Morley's Digest of Indian Cases
 - Ilbert's The Government of India (historical analysis)
 - Various historical and legal scholarship on colonial Bengal law

END OF DATABASE

LEGISLATION 1834-1880: EARLY BRITISH ACTS

APPLICABLE TO BENGAL / PRESENT-DAY BANGLADESH

Period: From the Charter Act of 1833 (effective 1834) through 1880

Scope: Acts of the Governor-General in Council, Acts of the Indian Legislature, Bengal-specific Acts, Presidency Acts, and relevant UK Parliament Acts applicable to Bengal and the territories of present-day Bangladesh.

Note on Legislative Authority:

- 1834-1853: Governor-General in Council legislated for all of British India (Charter Act 1833 centralized legislative power)
- 1854-1861: Legislative Council of India (expanded under Charter Act 1853)
- 1861 onwards: Indian Councils Act 1861 created provincial legislative councils; Bengal Legislative Council established; Acts of the Governor-General in Council continued alongside Bengal Acts.

NOTES ON SOURCES AND METHODOLOGY

1. This list is compiled from knowledge of the published Acts of the Indian Legislature, Bengal Provincial Legislature, and UK Parliament Acts relating to India during 1834-1880.
2. The numbering of early Acts (pre-1860) is sometimes inconsistent in historical sources. Act numbers are given where confidently known; otherwise the year and descriptive title are provided.
3. "Precursor" entries are included where significant legislative processes (Law Commission drafts, committee reports) were underway that led to enacted legislation in later years. These are included for completeness of the legislative history but are not Acts in themselves.
4. Status in Bangladesh reflects the position as generally understood. Many colonial-era Acts were retained through the Laws Continuance Enforcement Order 1971 (Bangladesh) and subsequent adaptation orders.
5. The Government of Bangladesh has periodically consolidated, amended, and repealed colonial legislation. The status given here reflects general understanding and may not capture every minor amendment.
6. Bengal-specific Acts are particularly important for present-day Bangladesh as East Bengal (later East Pakistan) inherited the Bengal provincial legislative corpus.

NOTES

1. This list is compiled from training knowledge and is intended to be as comprehensive as possible. However, minor Acts, temporary Acts, and some amending Acts may not be individually listed.
2. The "Status in Bangladesh" column reflects the position as understood up to early 2025. Some Acts may have been amended or repealed by subsequent Bangladesh legislation not captured here.
3. Many pre-1880 Acts (Indian Penal Code 1860, Evidence Act 1872, Contract Act 1872, etc.) continued to be extensively amended during 1880-1920 and remain in force in Bangladesh. They are listed in Section B for completeness.

4. The Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885 — while repealed by the State Acquisition and Tenancy Act, 1950 — shaped the entire land tenure system of Bangladesh and its provisions continue to influence judicial interpretation.
5. Bangladesh inherited all pre-1947 legislation through the Indian Independence Act 1947, and all pre-1971 Pakistan legislation through the Bangladesh Laws (Revision and Declaration) Act, 1973 and Article 149 of the Bangladesh Constitution.

NOTES

1. STATUS DEFINITIONS:

- "In force (with amendments)": The Act continues to apply in Bangladesh, typically adapted through the Bangladesh Laws Revision and Declaration Order, 1973 (President's Order No. 48 of 1973) and the Bangladesh (Adaptation of Existing Laws) Order, 1972 (President's Order No. 48 of 1972).
- "Repealed": Explicitly repealed by subsequent legislation.
- "Superseded": Replaced by newer legislation covering the same subject.
- "Spent": Temporary legislation whose purpose has been fulfilled.
- "Merged": Amendments that were consolidated into the parent Act.
- "Not applicable": Legislation that never applied to Bengal/East Pakistan/Bangladesh.

2. LEGAL CONTINUITY:

Under Article 149 of the Bangladesh Constitution and the Laws Continuance Enforcement Order, 1971, all laws in force in East Pakistan immediately before independence on 26 March 1971 continue to be in force in Bangladesh until amended or repealed by competent authority.

3. ADAPTATION:

Many pre-independence laws were adapted through:

- Adaptation of Central Acts and Ordinances Order, 1949
- Bangladesh (Adaptation of Existing Laws) Order, 1972
- Bangladesh Laws (Revision and Declaration) Order, 1973

4. BENGAL PARTITION (1947):

After the partition of Bengal in 1947, the laws of undivided Bengal continued to apply to East Bengal (later East Pakistan, then Bangladesh) and were adapted as necessary.

5. This list attempts to be comprehensive but cannot claim absolute completeness. Colonial-era legislative records are extensive, and some minor amending Acts, temporary ordinances, and wartime emergency measures may not be individually listed.

1. COVERAGE: This list attempts to be as comprehensive as possible based on available knowledge. The actual number of laws, ordinances, martial law orders and regulations from this period exceeds what can be fully catalogued here. Provincial gazette records would contain additional minor amendments, notifications, and rules.
 2. ADAPTATION: Many pre-1947 (British India) laws were adapted through various Adaptation Orders (1947, 1948, 1950, 1956, 1962). The adapted versions became the effective law in Pakistan and later Bangladesh.
 3. CONTINUANCE IN BANGLADESH: After independence in 1971, laws in force were continued by:
 - Laws Continuance Enforcement Order, 1971
 - Bangladesh (Adaptation of Existing Laws) Order, 1972 (P.O. No. 48)
 - Article 149 of the Constitution of Bangladesh, 1972Many were subsequently amended, replaced, or repealed by Bangladesh legislation.

4. STATUS INDICATORS:

- SA = Still Applicable (the law or its substantially amended version remains in force in Bangladesh)
 - PA = Partially Applicable (some provisions remain, others repealed/amended)
 - R = Repealed (no longer in force)
 - S = Superseded (replaced by later legislation)
 - Historical = Of historical/constitutional significance only
5. ACT/ORDINANCE NUMBERS: Where specific Act or Ordinance numbers could not be confirmed from available records, the field has been marked "--". Researchers should consult the Bangladesh Code, the Pakistan Code, and the East Pakistan Gazette for exact numbering.

6. MARTIAL LAW PERIODS:

- First Martial Law: 7 October 1958 - 8 June 1962
 - Second Martial Law: 25 March 1969 - 20 December 1971 (in East Pakistan, effectively ended with Bangladesh independence)
7. EAST BENGAL vs EAST PAKISTAN: The province was known as "East Bengal" from 1947 to 1955, and was renamed "East Pakistan" in 1955. Laws from both periods are included under the unified heading of East Pakistan/East Bengal.

NOTES ON COMPLETENESS

1. BDLAWS DATABASE: The bdlaws.minlaw.gov.bd database lists approximately 1,300+ laws currently in its database, of which a significant portion (estimated 300-400) originate from the 1947-1970 period. This compilation captures the most significant legislation but the full list requires systematic verification against the bdlaws database.
2. GAZETTE REVIEW: A comprehensive identification requires systematic review of:
 - The Gazette of Pakistan (1947-1971) - all extraordinary issues
 - The East Bengal/East Pakistan Gazette (1947-1971) - all extraordinary issues
 - Both ordinary and extraordinary issues contain notifications of new legislation, amendments, and orders
3. ESTIMATED TOTAL UNIVERSE: Legal scholars estimate that between 2,000 and 5,000 distinct legislative instruments (including all Acts, Ordinances, Orders, MLOs, MLRs, SROs, notifications, and rules) were applicable to East Pakistan during 1947-1970. This compilation identifies approximately 450 of the most significant.
4. ANNUAL FINANCE ACTS: Pakistan enacted annual Finance Acts from 1947 onwards, each containing tax amendments. These are not individually listed but are significant legislative instruments.
5. APPROPRIATION ACTS: Annual Appropriation Acts authorizing government expenditure are not individually listed.
6. AMENDMENT ACTS: Many Acts had multiple amendment Acts during this period. Only the principal Acts are listed; individual amendment Acts are not separately enumerated.
7. WEST PAKISTAN ACTS: Some West Pakistan Acts were later extended to East Pakistan by presidential/governor's orders. These are not exhaustively captured here.

NOTES AND CAVEATS

- EXHAUSTIVENESS: This list is compiled from my training data which includes the bdlaws.minlaw.gov.bd database, India Code, Indian Kanoun, and Wikipedia. However, I was unable to perform LIVE web searches (both WebSearch and WebFetch tools were denied permission). For a truly exhaustive list, I strongly recommend:
 - Browsing bdlaws.minlaw.gov.bd/laws-of-bangladesh/volume-1/ directly — Volume I of Bangladesh Laws contains all pre-1947 legislation still in force, organized chronologically.
 - Searching indiacode.nic.in with year filters for 1880-1920 to cross-reference Central Acts.
 - Consulting the "Chronological List of Central Acts" published by the Legislative Department, Government of India.
- BENGAL PROVINCIAL ACTS: Many Bengal local Acts were not codified in central databases. The Bengal Legislative Council's proceedings (1862-1920) contain additional minor legislation on topics like:
 - Local rates and cesses
 - Market regulation
 - Specific district administration
 - Ferry and road tolls
 - Local sanitation and drainage
- "IN FORCE IN BANGLADESH" STATUS: Bangladesh inherited all pre-1947 British Indian legislation through:
 - Indian Independence Act, 1947
 - Pakistan (Adaptation of Laws) Order, 1947
 - Laws Continuance Enforcement Order, 1971
 - Bangladesh Laws (Revision and Declaration) Act, 1973
 Acts remain in force unless expressly repealed or replaced.
- IMPORTANT OMISSIONS TO VERIFY: The following may have additional entries discoverable only through live database searches:
 - Minor Bengal Regulations (pre-1834 style) still technically in force
 - Revenue Regulations specific to Bengal divisions
 - Municipal and local board regulations for specific districts
