

APPLICABLE TO BENGAL / PRESENT-DAY BANGLADESH

Compiled: 15 March 2026

Scope: Rules, Regulations, Orders, Notifications, and By-Laws made under 21 parent Acts of the British India period (1860-1899) with applicability to the Bengal Presidency and/or the territory of present-day Bangladesh.

NOTE ON METHODOLOGY: This compilation draws on the Bangladesh Laws portal

(bdlaws.minlaw.gov.bd), India Code (indiacode.nic.in), historical legal manuals archived at archive.org and HathiTrust, the Banglapedia encyclopaedia, and secondary legal scholarship. Where a specific subordinate instrument is known by title and date it is listed individually; where the enabling provision is known but individual instruments were issued ad hoc by notification (e.g., epidemic-disease regulations, gazetted exemption orders), the class of instrument is described with known examples.

1. INDIAN PENAL CODE, 1860 (Act No. XLV of 1860)

The Indian Penal Code is a substantive criminal law statute. It does not itself contain rule-making powers in the conventional sense (i.e., it does not delegate power to the executive to make "rules" under the Act). Subordinate instruments connected with the IPC therefore take the form of:

1.1 Government Notifications Specifying or Extending Application

- Notification extending the IPC to Scheduled Districts and newly acquired territories in Bengal (various dates, 1860s-1890s).
- Authority: Governor-General in Council / Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal.
- Status: Spent (territories long since integrated).

1.2 Notifications under Section 294A (Lotteries)

- Notifications by the Local Government authorising or prohibiting specific lotteries in Bengal.
- Authority: Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal.
- Status: Historical; section subsequently amended.

1.3 Notifications Declaring "Public Servants" (Section 21)

- Various gazette notifications declaring classes of persons to be "public servants" for purposes of the IPC.
- Authority: Governor-General in Council.
- Year: Multiple, from 1860 onward.
- Status: Superseded by subsequent legislation in Bangladesh (the Penal Code, 1860 remains in force in Bangladesh with amendments).

Current Status of Parent Act: IN FORCE in Bangladesh (as "The Penal Code, 1860").
In India, replaced by Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita, 2023 (effective 1 July 2024).

2. POLICE ACT, 1861 (Act No. V of 1861)

The Police Act 1861 is the foundational police organisation statute. It confers extensive rule-making and regulation-making powers on the Inspector-General, the Local Government, and the District Magistrate.

2.1 POLICE REGULATIONS OF BENGAL (PRB), 1943

- Full Title: Police Regulations, Bengal, 1943
- Year of Promulgation: 1943 (consolidated earlier regulations dating from the 1860s onward)
- Authority: Inspector-General of Police, Bengal, with the sanction of the Government of Bengal
- Description: Comprehensive statutory regulations governing the organisation, administration, discipline, duties, and procedures of the Bengal Police. Contains 26 chapters and 1,290 regulations (sections).
- Structure (Chapters):
 - Chapter I - Organisation
 - Chapter II - Relations with Other Departments

- Chapter III - Direction and Control
- Chapter IV - Privileges and General Instructions
- Chapter V - Circle Inspectors
- Chapter VI - The Police-Station
- Chapter VII - Court Police
- Chapter VIII - Railway Police
- Chapter IX - Criminal Investigation Department
- Chapter X - Establishments
- Chapter XI - Special Armed Force
- Chapter XII - Appointment, Recruitment and Promotion
- Chapter XIII - Pay, Increments and Allowances
- Chapter XIV - Training and Examination
- Chapter XV - Leave, Postings and Transfers
- Chapter XVI - Resignation, Retirement, Pension and Gratuity
- Chapter XVII - Discipline and Punishments
- Chapter XVIII- Appeals
- Chapter XIX - Uniform and Clothing
- Chapter XX - Arms, Ammunition and Stores
- Chapter XXI - Buildings
- Chapter XXII - Transport
- Chapter XXIII- Accounts and Budget
- Chapter XXIV - Miscellaneous
- Chapter XXV - Reports, Returns and Statistics
- Chapter XXVI - Furniture, Forms, Stationery and Stamps
- Current Status: IN FORCE in Bangladesh (adapted post-1971).
- Also in force (with modifications) in West Bengal, India.

2.2 Earlier Police Regulations and Rules (Pre-1943)

- Police Regulations, Bengal (original compilation, various editions from 1860s-1930s) - consolidated into the 1943 edition.
- Bengal Police Manual (various editions).
- Authority: Inspector-General of Police, Bengal.
- Status: SUPERSEDED by the 1943 consolidation.

2.3 Rules under Section 12 (Village Police / Chaukidari)

- Chaukidari Rules for Bengal.
- Rules for appointment, payment, and control of village watchmen.
- Authority: Local Government (Government of Bengal).
- Status: SUPERSEDED by subsequent local government legislation.

2.4 Police Orders (Standing Orders)

- Issued periodically by the Inspector-General of Police, Bengal.
- West Bengal Police Orders (1962 series onward) continue this tradition.
- Bangladesh Police Orders continue separately.
- Status: Ongoing series; individual orders may be in force or superseded.

2.5 Notifications under Section 15 (Special Police Officers)

- Notifications appointing special police officers in Bengal during emergencies, riots, etc.
- Authority: District Magistrate / Local Government.
- Status: Individual notifications spent; power continues.

Current Status of Parent Act: IN FORCE in Bangladesh. In India, replaced state by state (West Bengal Police Act not yet enacted; the 1861 Act remains applicable).

3. INDIAN EVIDENCE ACT, 1872 (Act No. I of 1872)

The Indian Evidence Act is a substantive-procedural law governing admissibility of evidence. Like the IPC, it contains very limited rule-making delegation. The High Court's power to make rules of procedure touching on evidentiary matters derives from the Code of Civil Procedure and Criminal Procedure, not from the Evidence Act itself.

3.1 No Separate Subordinate Legislation (Rules/Regulations)

- The Evidence Act does not delegate rule-making power to the executive.
- Procedural rules concerning the reception of evidence are contained in the High Court Rules (made under CPC and CrPC, not under the Evidence Act per se).

3.2 Government Notifications

- Notifications under Section 78 (proof of documents by production of certified copies) -- Government of Bengal notifications designating officers authorised to certify copies.
- Notifications under Section 86 (presumption as to certified copies of foreign judicial records) -- Central Government notifications.
- Status: Superseded by subsequent notifications; power continues.

Current Status of Parent Act: IN FORCE in Bangladesh (as "The Evidence Act, 1872").
In India, replaced by Bharatiya Sakshya Adhiniyam, 2023 (effective 1 July 2024).

4. INDIAN CONTRACT ACT, 1872 (Act No. IX of 1872)

The Indian Contract Act is a substantive law of obligations. It does not contain any rule-making provision or delegation to the executive to make subordinate legislation.

4.1 No Subordinate Legislation

- The Act contains no section empowering the Government or any authority to make rules, regulations, or notifications of a legislative character.
- All matters are dealt with substantively in the Act itself.

Current Status of Parent Act: IN FORCE in Bangladesh (as "The Contract Act, 1872").
In India, the original Act continues in force.

5. INDIAN MAJORITY ACT, 1875 (Act No. IX of 1875)

A short statute (only 4 substantive sections) fixing the age of majority.

5.1 No Subordinate Legislation

- The Act does not delegate any rule-making power.
- No rules, regulations, or notifications of legislative character were made under this Act.

Current Status of Parent Act: IN FORCE in Bangladesh (as "The Majority Act, 1875").
In India, the original Act continues in force.

6. SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT, 1877 (Act No. I of 1877)

A substantive-remedial statute providing for specific performance of contracts, rectification, cancellation, declaratory decrees, and injunctions.

6.1 No Subordinate Legislation (Rules/Regulations)

- The Act does not contain provisions for executive rule-making.
- Procedural matters relating to specific relief are governed by rules of court made under the Code of Civil Procedure, not under this Act.

6.2 Notifications Extending Application

- Notifications by the Governor-General in Council extending the Act to territories in Bengal not originally covered.
- Status: Spent.

Current Status of Parent Act: IN FORCE in Bangladesh (as "The Specific Relief Act, 1877"). In India, replaced by the Specific Relief Act, 1963.

7. INDIAN TREASURE TROVE ACT, 1878 (Act No. VI of 1878)

7.1 Notifications under Section 4 (Publication of Treasure Found)

- Individual notifications by District Collectors publishing details of treasure found, requiring claimants to appear.
- Authority: Collector of the district.
- Year: Various (ongoing under the Act).
- Status: Individual notifications are spent upon conclusion of proceedings; the notification-making power continues.

7.2 Rules under Section 15 (Power to Make Rules)

- Title: Rules under the Treasure Trove Act (Bengal)
- Authority: Local Government (Government of Bengal)
- Description: Rules prescribing the procedure for Collectors in dealing with treasure trove, forms of notification, and mode of disposal.
- Year: Rules first framed in the 1880s; revised periodically.
- Status: IN FORCE in Bangladesh (adapted). The power to make rules continues under the Act.

7.3 Notifications Declaring Treasure Ownerless

- Notifications by Collectors declaring specific treasure to be ownerless property vesting in the Government.
- Authority: Collector.
- Status: Individual notifications spent; power continues.

Current Status of Parent Act: IN FORCE in Bangladesh (as "The Treasure Trove Act, 1878").

8. INDIAN ARMS ACT, 1878 (Act No. XI of 1878)

8.1 INDIAN ARMS RULES, 1924

- Full Title: The Indian Arms Rules, 1924
- Year of Promulgation: 1924 (made under sections 27 and 29 of the Indian Arms Act, 1878, as amended by Acts XX of 1919 and XVIII of 1920)
- Authority: Governor-General in Council
- Description: Comprehensive rules prescribing the forms and conditions for firearms licenses, the officers empowered to grant licenses, exemptions, fees, and schedules of prohibited and permitted arms.
- Key Schedules:
 - Schedule I - Arms and ammunition exempted from the operation of the Act
 - Schedule II - Arms and ammunition exempted from licensing requirements
 - Schedule III - Persons exempted from licensing requirements
 - Schedule IV - Withdrawal of exemptions for specified areas
- Status: REPEALED in India by the Arms Act, 1959, and Arms Rules, 1962. In Bangladesh, SUPERSEDED by the Arms Act, 1878 as adapted, and subsequent Bangladesh arms legislation.

8.2 BENGAL ARMS ACT MANUAL, 1924 (as modified up to June 1933)

- Full Title: Government of Bengal, Police Department, The Bengal Arms Act Manual, 1924, as modified up to June 1933
- Authority: Government of Bengal, Police Department
- Description: Departmental compilation consolidating the Arms Act, Arms Rules, and all Bengal-specific notifications, exemptions, circulars, and executive instructions relating to arms in Bengal.
- Status: SUPERSEDED.

8.3 Notifications under Section 27 (Exemptions and Withdrawals)

- Numerous gazette notifications by the Governor-General in Council and the Local Government granting or withdrawing exemptions for particular classes of persons, particular areas, or particular types of arms.
- Authority: Governor-General in Council / Government of Bengal.
- Status: SUPERSEDED by subsequent arms legislation.

8.4 Bengal-Specific Amending Legislation Affecting Arms Rules

- Bengal Criminal Law (Arms and Explosives) Act, 1932
- Bengal Criminal Law (Amendment) Act, 1934 (Ben. Act VII of 1934)
 - Inserted sections 19A and 20A into the Arms Act as applied to Bengal.
- Status: REPEALED / SUPERSEDED.

Current Status of Parent Act: IN FORCE in Bangladesh (as "The Arms Act, 1878" with amendments). In India, REPEALED by the Arms Act, 1959.

9. NEGOTIABLE INSTRUMENTS ACT, 1881 (Act No. XXVI of 1881)

9.1 No Subordinate Legislation (Rules/Regulations)

- The Negotiable Instruments Act does not contain provisions empowering the Government to make rules or regulations.
- The Act is self-contained in its substantive and procedural provisions relating to promissory notes, bills of exchange, and cheques.

9.2 Notifications under Section 25 (Bank Holidays / Public Holidays)

- Notifications by the Local Government declaring days to be public holidays for the purposes of the Act (days on which negotiable instruments falling due need not be paid).
- Authority: Local Government (Government of Bengal).
- Year: Various, issued periodically.
- Status: Power continues; individual notifications superseded annually.

Current Status of Parent Act: IN FORCE in Bangladesh (as "The Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881"). In India, the Act continues with amendments.

10. TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, 1882 (Act No. IV of 1882)

10.1 No General Subordinate Legislation

- The Transfer of Property Act does not delegate general rule-making power to the executive.

10.2 Notifications under Section 3 (Definition Notifications)

- Notifications by the Local Government defining "immovable property" inclusions, registered/unregistered instruments, etc.
- Status: Power continues.

10.3 Notifications under Section 54 (Transfer by Registered Instrument)

- Notifications by the Government specifying the value threshold above which transfer of tangible immovable property must be by registered instrument.
- Authority: Local Government.
- Status: Various notifications; power continues.

10.4 Interaction with Bengal Tenancy Act

- Transfer of agricultural land in Bengal was governed primarily by the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885, not by the Transfer of Property Act. The TPA applied to non-agricultural land and buildings.

Current Status of Parent Act: IN FORCE in Bangladesh (as "The Transfer of Property Act, 1882").

11. INDIAN TRUSTS ACT, 1882 (Act No. II of 1882)

11.1 No Subordinate Legislation

- The Indian Trusts Act, 1882 does not contain any rule-making power delegated to the Government or any other authority.
- The Act deals with private trusts and is entirely self-contained.

11.2 Note on Application to Bengal

- The Trusts Act was not initially extended to the whole of Bengal; notifications extending the Act to various parts of Bengal were issued by the Governor-General in Council.
- Status: Spent notifications; the Act now extends to all of Bangladesh.

Current Status of Parent Act: IN FORCE in Bangladesh (as "The Trusts Act, 1882").

Note: The Act was never extended to the whole of Bangladesh/East Bengal -- it applies only where specifically extended. In India, the Act continues in force.

12. INDIAN EASEMENTS ACT, 1882 (Act No. V of 1882)

12.1 No Subordinate Legislation

- The Indian Easements Act does not contain any provision delegating rule-making power to the Government or any authority.
- The Act is substantive law dealing with easement rights and is entirely self-contained.

12.2 Note on Application

- The Easements Act was not extended to the whole of British India. In Bengal, its application was limited. Notifications extending the Act to specific areas of Bengal were issued from time to time.
- Status: The Act applies in Bangladesh to the extent of prior extensions.

Current Status of Parent Act: IN FORCE in Bangladesh (as "The Easements Act, 1882").

13. BENGAL TENANCY ACT, 1885 (Bengal Act No. VIII of 1885)

This Act is the most prolific generator of subordinate legislation among all the Acts listed here. Being a provincial (Bengal) Act dealing with the complex land tenure system, it required extensive subordinate instruments.

13.1 GOVERNMENT RULES UNDER THE BENGAL TENANCY ACT

- Full Title: Government Rules under the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885
- Year: First framed 1885-1886; revised and consolidated periodically (notably 1889, 1898, 1920, 1935)
- Authority: Local Government (Government of Bengal), under powers conferred by multiple sections of the Act
- Description: Comprehensive rules prescribing procedures for:
 - (a) Survey and settlement operations (under Chapters X and XA)
 - (b) Preparation and maintenance of records-of-rights
 - (c) Rent enhancement and reduction proceedings
 - (d) Commutation of rents

In India, replaced by the Right to Fair Compensation and Transparency in Land Acquisition, Rehabilitation and Resettlement Act, 2013.

18. GENERAL CLAUSES ACT, 1897 (Act No. X of 1897)

18.1 No Subordinate Legislation

- The General Clauses Act is an interpretive statute providing general definitions and rules of construction for all legislation. It does not itself delegate any rule-making power and no subordinate legislation is made under it.
- The Act defines terms such as "Government Gazette," "notification," "rule," etc. that are used throughout all other legislation.

Current Status of Parent Act: IN FORCE in Bangladesh (as "The General Clauses Act, 1897").

19. EPIDEMIC DISEASES ACT, 1897 (Act No. III of 1897)

19.1 TEMPORARY REGULATIONS UNDER SECTION 2

- Title: Regulations prescribed under Section 2 of the Epidemic Diseases Act (various)
- Authority: Local Government (Government of Bengal; later Government of Bangladesh)
- Description: When the Government is satisfied that any part of the territory is visited by or threatened with an outbreak of dangerous epidemic disease, it may prescribe temporary regulations including:
 - (a) Inspection of persons travelling by railway or otherwise
 - (b) Segregation of persons suspected of infection

- (c) Prohibition or regulation of fairs, gatherings, pilgrimages
- (d) Closure of schools, markets, and public places
- (e) Compulsory vaccination or inoculation measures
- (f) Quarantine measures
- (g) Any other measure to prevent the spread of disease
- Known Historical Examples (Bengal):
 - Plague Regulations, Bengal (various years from 1898 onward)
 - Cholera Regulations, Bengal (various years)
 - Smallpox Prevention Regulations
- Year: Issued ad hoc during epidemic outbreaks from 1897 onward.
- Status: Individual regulations are SPENT (temporary by nature). The power to make such regulations continues and has been exercised extensively, including during the COVID-19 pandemic (2020-2022).

19.2 NOTIFICATIONS UNDER SECTION 2A (CENTRAL GOVERNMENT POWERS)

- Notifications by the Central Government prescribing regulations for inspection of ships, vessels, and aircraft, and detention of persons intending to travel.
- Authority: Central Government.
- Status: Power continues.

Current Status of Parent Act: IN FORCE in Bangladesh (as "The Epidemic Diseases Act, 1897").

20. CODE OF CRIMINAL PROCEDURE, 1898 (Act No. V of 1898)

The CrPC 1898 is one of the most prolific generators of subordinate legislation, as it empowers both the Government and the High Court to make extensive rules.

20.1 CRIMINAL RULES AND ORDERS (HIGH COURT)

- Full Title: Criminal Rules and Orders of the High Court (various editions)
- For Bengal: Criminal Rules and Orders of the High Court at Calcutta (pre-1947); Criminal Rules and Orders of the High Court of East Pakistan / High Court of Bangladesh (post-1947/1971)
- Authority: High Court, under Sections 554 and other enabling provisions of the CrPC

NOTES AND CAVEATS

- 1. COMPLETENESS: This compilation covers all known classes of subordinate legislation under the listed Acts. Individual gazette notifications (of which there were thousands over the period 1858-1947) are not individually enumerable without access to complete runs of the Calcutta Gazette and the Gazette of India.
- 2. BANGLADESH ADAPTATION: After independence in 1971, Bangladesh adopted all pre-existing laws through the Bangladesh Laws (Revision and Declaration) Act, 1973 (Act VIII of 1973). This Act systematically replaced references to "Pakistan," "Central Government," "Provincial Government," and "Rs" with "Bangladesh," "Government," and "Tk" respectively.
- 3. INDIA REPLACEMENT: Several parent Acts have been replaced in India by new legislation (e.g., IPC by BNS 2023, CrPC 1898 by CrPC 1973 and then BNSS 2023, Specific Relief Act 1877 by SRA 1963, Arms Act 1878 by Arms Act 1959). The subordinate legislation under the old Acts has been correspondingly superseded in India.
- 4. ARCHIVAL SOURCES: The most comprehensive historical collections of subordinate legislation are found in:
 - The Calcutta Gazette (official gazette of Bengal)
 - The Gazette of India
 - Annotated editions of individual Acts (e.g., Rampini's Bengal Tenancy Act, the Bengal Arms Act Manual)
 - The Bengal Survey and Settlement Manual, 1935
 - The Bengal Land Acquisition Manual, 1917
 - The Police Regulations, Bengal, 1943
 - The Indian Culture Portal (indianculture.gov.in)
 - The National Digital Library of India (ndl.iitkgp.ac.in)
 - Internet Archive / HathiTrust digital collections
- 5. ACTS WITHOUT SUBORDINATE LEGISLATION: Several Acts in this list (Indian Contract Act, Indian Majority Act, Indian Trusts Act, Indian Easements Act, General Clauses Act) are purely substantive or interpretive statutes that do not delegate rule-making power to the executive and therefore have no subordinate legislation.
